INTRODUCTION

The Board of NRNA Australia is committed to protecting the privacy of personal information which the NRNA Australia collects, holds and administers. Personal information is information which directly or indirectly identifies a person.

PURPOSE

The purpose of this document is to provide a framework for NRNA Australia in dealing with privacy considerations.

POLICY

NRNA Australia collects and administers a range of personal information for the purposes of membership or any other events where data is collected physically or through website. The NRNA Australia is committed to protecting the privacy of personal information it collects, holds and administers.

NRNA Australia recognises the essential right of individuals to have their information administered in ways which they would reasonably expect – protected on one hand, and made accessible to them on the other. These privacy values are reflected in and supported by our core values and philosophies and also reflected in our Privacy Policy, which is compliant with the Privacy Act 1988 (Cth).

NRNA Australia is bound by laws which impose specific obligations when it comes to handling information. The NRNA Australia has adopted the following principles contained as minimum standards in relation to handling personal information.

NRNA Australia will

- Collect only information which the NRNA Australia requires for its primary function;

The Non-Resident Nepali Association (NRNA) Australia

Use and Disclosure

NRNA Australia] will:

- Only use or disclose information for the primary purpose for which it was collected or a directly related secondary purpose.
- For other uses, NRNA Australia will obtain consent from the affected person.
- In relation to a secondary purpose, use or disclose the personal information only where:
 - o a secondary purpose is related to the primary purpose and the individual would reasonably have expected us to use it for purposes; or
 - o the person has consented; or
 - o certain other legal reasons exist, or disclosure is required to prevent serious and imminent threat to life, health or safety.
- In relation to personal information which has been collected from a person, use the personal information for direct marketing, where that person would reasonably expect it to be used for this purpose, and NRNA Australia has provided an opt out and the opt out has not been taken up.
- In relation to personal information which has been collected other than from the person themselves, only use the personal information for direct marketing if the person whose personal information has been collected has consented (and they have not taken up the opt-out).
- State in NRNA Australia's privacy policy whether the information is sent overseas and further will ensure that any overseas providers of services are as compliant with privacy as NRNA Australia is required to be.
- Provide all individuals access to personal information except where it is a threat to life or health or it is authorized by law to refuse and, if a person is able to establish that the personal information is not accurate, then NRNA Australia must take steps to correct it. NRNA Australia may allow a person to attach a statement to their information if NRNA Australia disagrees it is inaccurate.
- Where for a legal or other reason we are not required to provide a person with access to the information, consider whether a mutually agreed intermediary would allow sufficient access to meet the needs of both parties.
- Make no charge for making a request for personal information, correcting the information or associating a statement regarding accuracy with the personal information.
